Extended Warranty Protection Against the Unexpected

If you're anything like I was back before I got into this business, you might be thinking "that'll never happen to me" or "this just isn't something that's important to me right now" when you're considering an extended warranty. But the truth is, you never really know what can happen...and what's worse, you don't know where it can happen.

One of our claims that I'll always remember was about Michelle whose husband was serving our country overseas at the time. She was on vacation visiting family 1800 miles away from home with their 3 kids when her alternator went out on their Dodge Grand Caravan. And guess what? It was also her birthday.

So keep in mind, that of all places and all times for a car to break down it usually seems to happen at the most inopportune times. That's why at DCI Warranty Services all of our vehicle service agreements include our Trip Protection Interruption service.

I can't speak for other extended warranty companies, but our Trip Protection gives you assurance that should the unexpected happen to you, it won't ruin your vacation, or whatever else you might have going that day. What's more important is the safety of your family and being protected.
