Comparing Extended Auto Warranty Quote

When looking for an extended auto warranty quote, there are few ways you can go about it. You can shop online for the best deal; you can call a broker and let them find a deal for you; or you can buy direct from your dealership.

If you go online, be aware that not every extended auto warranty company is on the same level. Do your homework to make sure the quote you have received is from a reputable company that will still be around in a few years. Get a few quotes, and compare the prices and the coverage packages. Do not settle for the best price alone because you need to find the best coverage for your needs.

If you go to a broker, they will use their bulk buying power to get you the lowest rates – but remember that a broker gets paid, too. Usually, the rates are slightly higher than the lowest possible rates, and the broker pockets the difference.

If you go through your dealership, be aware that this extended auto warranty is going to cost you the most money overall. Dealerships get big incentives for signing people to extended warranties.
