Do Repair Shops Like Your Used Warranty?

Many people don't get a used warranty for their vehicle because they believe they can't afford it. But what they don't understand is how they can't afford to NOT have one since mechanics and repair shops can take advantage of them without one.

Sound outrageous? Well it's true. Sadly, some mechanics and repair shops will overcharge for retail on parts and the labor performed. In some cases, they may even put in extra parts that are not necessary for the repair, not to mention the unsightly hourly wage that's posted on the wall.

So when you go into a repair shop as a cash buyer you can bet you'll be paying whatever is on that wall. That's right. Say goodbye to your house payment for that month. But – and this is something most people don't pay enough attention to – when you are with a used warranty company like us, we act as your buffer to make sure repairs are legitimate and within the correct price range.

At DCI Warranty Services, we deal directly with mechanics all day everyday. We know the tricks they like to pull. In fact, if you have a repair that isn't covered under your vehicle service agreement, we'll negotiate the rate lower on your behalf so you don't get ripped off. How is that possible? It's called Purchasing Power - because of the amount of business we bring to each car repair center, we can use our relationship to negotiate better rates for our customers.

So like I said earlier, if you think you can't afford a used warranty, think again. You can't afford not to have one because you could end up paying more dealing directly with mechanics and repair shops.
